Student Name: _____ Date of IEP: _____

(Functional Performance refers to general ability and problem solving, attention and organization, communication, social skills, behavior, independent living, self-advocacy, learning style, vocational, employment)

Present Level must include:

- How the child's disability affects his/her involvement and progress in the general education curriculum; or for preschool children, participation in age-appropriate activities. (For students with transition plans, consider how the student's disability will affect the child's ability to reach his/her post-secondary goals (what the child will do after high school). For children with the most significant cognitive disabilities, describe how the disability impacts the child's access to the general education curriculum and how the alternate standards are appropriate.)
  {disabilityImpact}

- The strengths of the child. (For students with transition plans, consider how the strengths of the child relate to the student's post-secondary goals.)
  {studentStrengths}

- Concerns of the parent/guardian for enhancing the education of the student. (For students with transition plans, consider the parent/guardian's expectations for the student after the student leaves high school.)

  {parentConcerns}

  {changesInFunctioning}

- A summary of the most recent evaluation/re-evaluation results.
  {evalSummary}

- A summary of formal and/or informal age appropriate transition assessments based on the student's needs, preferences and interests (must be included no later than the first IEP to be in effect when the student turns age 16).
  {transitionSummary}

- Once the IEP team determines that the student is unable to access the regular curriculum and that a curriculum based on alternative standards is appropriate (MAP-A guidance), complete this section by describing the following:
  - How the student demonstrates the most significant cognitive disabilities and limited adaptive skills that may be combined with physical or behavioral limitations.
  - How the most significant cognitive disability impacts the student's access to the curriculum and requires specialized instruction.
  - How the most significant cognitive disability impacts the student's post-school outcomes.
  - Any additional factors considered. (The student's inability to participate in the general education assessment must be primarily the result of the most significant cognitive disability and NOT excessive absences; visual or auditory disabilities; or social, cultural, language, or economic differences.)

Please select one of the following for students determined eligible for alternative assessments:

Form F: Classroom Accommodations and Modifications

Differentiated Instruction refers to adjustments in teaching methods or materials to accommodate each student's learning needs and preferences and is available for all students. These instructional strategies should not be documented on Form F. Accommodations are changes in procedures or materials that increase equitable access in the classroom setting. Accommodations generate comparable results for students who need them and allow these students to demonstrate what they know and can do. Modifications are changes in procedures or materials that change the construct of the educational task making it difficult to compare results with typical peer results. Modifications allow students to demonstrate what they know and can do in a non-standardized way.

Indicate below the accommodations and modifications for the student to be used in general and/or special education and supports to be provided to school personnel.
